Strauss Group 2018 Sustainability Report - GRI Content Index

This is Strauss Group's eleventh Sustainability Report and it describes the impacts of our business on our stakeholders in 2018. This report has been prepared in accordance with the GRI Standards: Core option. In addition, this report represents our annual communication to the United Nations Global Compact, to which we are signatories.

Data presented in this report relates to the calendar year 2018. Our last full Sustainability Report was published in 2017, covering 2016. For the year 2017, we published a Communication on Progress to the UN Global Compact to provide updates for our stakeholders in key areas of activity, as we did not publish a full GRI-based report in that year. We intend to continue publishing sustainability reports annually.

In this report we have retained the material framework that was established in 2014 and remains relevant today, following internal validation. The boundaries of this report remain all Strauss Group companies under operational control, including managed Joint Ventures reported as full entities. No significant restatements of information have been made; small adjustments to data are noted alongside the data as presented.

We thank you for your interest in this report and would be pleased to hear your feedback. Please contact:

102-9 Supply chain

Our global supply chain engages more than 14,000 suppliers in the supply of ingredients, goods and services to a value of around $1 billion each year. Most of our production is in our own 26 facilities around the world, supported by a network of warehousing, logistics and distribution operations that deliver our products to our customers. Throughout this complex supply chain, we aim to ensure fair and responsible dealings with our suppliers, sustainable and ethical sourcing of our food ingredients, other raw materials and packaging, as well as adhering to the highest standards of human rights in all our internal and external operations.

102-12 External initiatives

- United Nations Global Compact: Strauss Group is a signatory since 2008.
- Maala: Strauss is a member of Maala (Business for Social Responsibility) and has participated in the annual CSR ranking of public companies since the ranking was introduced more than ten years ago. For the past six years, Strauss was awarded the highest possible ranking, Platinum Plus.

102-13 Membership of associations

- DSF: Dairy Sustainability Framework
- Food Industry Association in Israel
- The Israeli Marketing Association
- Strauss Coffee: Global Coffee Platform (GCP)

102-42 Identifying and selecting stakeholders

We selected stakeholders for our engagement process based on their connection to Strauss, the degree of influence they have on our business and the degree of impact we have on their decisions. Most of our formal engagement takes place in Israel.

102-43 Stakeholder engagement

Stakeholder engagement is conducted with relevant groups throughout the year via different channels – meetings, surveys and conferences. Annually we survey our key stakeholder groups using a broad survey, which was focused on Trust in 2018 – the Strauss Trust Survey. This is described in detail in the section: Listening in practice, on page 8.

102-44 Key topics and concerns raised

See pages 10-13 for general stakeholder feedback and specific feedback based on the Strauss Trust Survey.

Anti-Corruption: Disclosure on Management approach

As a global company, active in more than 20 countries and with over 14,500 employees, Strauss Group has a broad reach. This obliges us to ensure that our business activities around the world are conducted in accordance with the highest ethical standards and avoid potential risks related to corruption. Strauss Group upholds all applicable laws and regulations regarding anti-corruption and anti-bribery, including the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977 (FCPA) and the UK Bribery Act of 2010, as well as with other international laws and regulations in the countries where we operate. Violations or the perception of violations of anti-corruption laws can cause reputational damage to Strauss Group and its employees, and incur regulatory penalties including monetary fines, or imprisonment. Anti-corruption breaches will subject employees to disciplinary action, including possible termination of employment.

205-3: Confirmed incidents of corruption

There were zero confirmed incidents of corruption in 2018.

Caring for the environment: Disclosure on Management Approach

As a responsible manufacturer of food and beverages with a global footprint, we act with respect for our natural environment and strive to minimize our impacts on climate change and global resource consumption. We believe that we can continue to grow our business and meet our consumers' needs for healthy and nutritious products while exercising control over our environmental impacts. Importantly, our consumers, employees and many others expect us, as a responsible corporate citizen, to take care of the planet so that we and future generations can continue to thrive. We have publicly accounted for our environmental performance for more than ten years, and we will continue to do so.

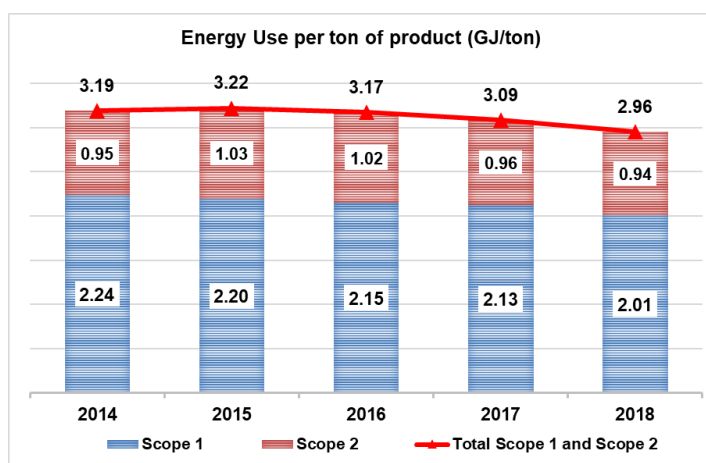

- We comply with all applicable environmental laws and regulations in all markets in which we operate.
- We operate our facilities in line with an Environmental Management System (EMS) that requires detailed attention to all our practices and control of our environmental impacts. Several sites are certified to the EMS quality standard ISO14001 and undergo periodical audits for recertification. In non-certified sites, we aim to practice similar standards of environmental management. In all aspects of environmental practice, we seek continuous improvement.
- We take a precautionary approach to climate change, believing that the risks for humanity are real if the rising temperature of our planet is not halted and climate change effects not mitigated. We therefore place emphasis on reducing our energy consumption throughout our operations by adopting environmentally efficient practices and investing in energy-efficient equipment
- We strive to minimise water withdrawal and recycle water where we can in our operations.
- We practice the Reduce, Recycle, Reuse approach across all our facilities and conduct regular site assessments to evaluate new possibilities to avoid waste generation.
- We provide employees whose roles have an impact on our environmental performance with targeted training to help them perform their duties while conserving resources and minimizing waste.
- Environmental Managers, or in some cases, Factory Managers, at each Strauss Group site are responsible for ensuring the implementation of environmental policies and practices and monitoring progress and performance, reporting to the Operations Managers and overall Supply Chain leadership at Strauss Group.

Basis for reporting on greenhouse gas emissions

Greenhouse gases included in the calculation of CO2e are CO2, CH4 and N2O. Fuel emission factors are taken from DEFRA. Electricity emissions factors for Israel use the Israel Electric Company. All other electricity emissions factors use emissionfactors.com. Emissions for 2014-2016 have been updated to reflect a change in methodology from 2017.

Employment: Disclosure on Management approach

Attraction, development and retention of employees with the necessary motivation, skills and competencies is critical to our ongoing success and business growth.

We compete in the market for employees and therefore must provide an attractive workplace where people will be proud to work. We aim to provide a safe, caring, inclusive and empowering workplace for our employees all around the world. We offer competitive terms and conditions of employment, meaningful work with opportunities for personal development and growth, and respect for the rights of employees in all our operations. We aim to provide a stable workplace with long-term prospects for employees. We aim to hire all employees directly as far as possible and use third-party employees to manage surges in demand or meet occasional needs.

We maintain a full Human Resources organization that advances policies, programs and practices to provide a positive working culture and track performance.

Diversity and Equal Opportunity: Disclosure on Management Approach

At Strauss Group, we believe that inclusive business practices empower our employees, foster innovation, build trustful relationships throughout our supply chain and improve our responsiveness to our customers and consumers, enabling us to achieve better business results over the long term in the right way. Diversity and Inclusion for us represent both a business necessity and a core belief. They represent a fundamental value and code of behavior that is deeply embedded in our day to day interactions and decisions. Diversity and Inclusion are the result of respect, valuing others and caring about the lives we touch through the thousands of people we employ and the millions of people we reach each day through our products and our operations.

Local Communities: Disclosure on Management Approach

Our communities are important to us because they comprise our consumers, employees and other business partners with whom we do business. We believe that strong communities foster strong businesses. Our mission is to improve people's lives and this includes all the communities in the locations in which we do business. We aim to maintain a strong connection in our local communities both the way we work and the initiatives that we advance. We engage with our communities in several ways, using different approaches, from the more immediate response to a specific request to long-term approaches that deliver a step-change in the quality of life.

413-1: Operations with local community engagement

All our operations (100%) maintain some form of community investment or engagement through donations, employee volunteering or strategic social collaborations. See our section on: Investing in our communities, page 58

Supplier Social Assessment: Disclosure on Management Approach

Our extended supply chain, comprising tens of thousands of suppliers who provide us with goods and services in our different markets, are an integral part of our ability to provide delicious and nutritious food and beverage products to meet our consumers' needs every day. We view our suppliers as partners in delivering our mission. As such, we expect them to uphold the same standards of ethical, responsible and sustainable business to which we hold ourselves at Strauss Group. By ensuring we behave with integrity towards our suppliers, and by working with suppliers who share our values and standards, we enhance trust throughout our business and enable our consumers and all other stakeholders to believe in our Company and our products.

414-1: New suppliers screened using social criteria

100% of suppliers of Strauss Israel and Sabra/Obela were screened using social criteria (supplier ethics charter or supplier code of conduct). Strauss Coffee and Strauss Water do not currently have formal screening programs in place.

Marketing and labeling: Disclosure on Management Approach

As a large global food manufacturer, we are committed to understanding and respecting the needs of our consumers and striving to earn their trust through everything we do. We inform our consumers of new or improved products through marketing and advertising across many voice, print and digital channels. Our products are clearly and comprehensively labeled, beyond legal requirements where relevant, and always display accurate information regarding the nutritional value of our products, so that consumers can make informed choices. Whenever a change is made in the composition of a product, we include clear information on these changes on our packaging. We comply with Product Labeling Laws in all the markets in which we operate, and where product packaging permits, we increase the size and content of our labels for increased ease of accessibility of critical information for consumers.

417-1 Product and service information and labeling

100% of our food and beverage products are covered by marketing and labelling requirements.

417-3: Non-compliance concerning marketing communications

There have been zero incidents of non-compliance relating to marketing communications.
